Headline:
Sunshine and showers by day - dry and chilly nights.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloud breaks up in the evening, and showers gradually die away leading to a largely dry and chilly night, with the potential for rural frost under any prolonged clear spells. Cloud returns to eastern areas before dawn. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Patchy cloud, scattered showers and sunny spells through the day. The showers may be heavy, contain hail and possibly a rumble of thunder. Feeling cold and turning dry again overnight. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunshine and showers by day over the weekend, with dry and chilly nights. Heavy rain arrives from the west on Monday, bringing strong winds and coastal gales. Nights turning warmer.
